

Dear Hiring Manager,

From the moment I first played a flash game on my dad's computer, I knew gaming would be more than just a hobby—it would be my calling. That's why I'm thrilled to apply for the Gameplay Programmer position at your company. The chance to transform my lifelong passion into a career, crafting the very experiences that have inspired me, I believe it's the best thing you can get in life.

My journey in software development has been driven by an insatiable curiosity and a desire to bring imaginary worlds to life. Over the past 6 years, I've honed my skills in:

- C++ and C# programming, turning complex algorithms into smooth, responsive gameplay
- Unity and UE5, where I've done many amazing projects with my teammates.
- Performance optimization, because I believe every frame matters in creating immersive experiences
- Collaborative development, sharing ideas and code with fellow gaming enthusiasts

What excites me most about working as Gameplay Programmer is there will be a lot of potential ideas pop up while I'm coding, and I love these moments so much. That also makes me want to be more creative and bring some cool ideas to the team.

I'm not just looking for a job—I'm looking to be part of a team that's as passionate about gaming as I am. I want to pour my creativity, technical skills, and gamer's intuition into projects that will captivate and inspire players around the world.

I would be thrilled to discuss how my drive and expertise can contribute to your next groundbreaking title. Thank you for considering me for this incredible opportunity.

Game on!

Son Nguyen